Polo fans of the city are awaiting with interest the debut of the new Quakers in the Indiana polo league, at the coliseum this evening. New Castle will furnish the opening attraction.

With Nolan and Williams, rush and center, of this city, in the visitors' lineup, the locals will be given a run for their money. Bulla and Marine will be on the rush line, Fletcher at Center, Oosting at half-back and Lancaster in goal for the Richmonds. Sampsell, the fleet little Indianapolis star, will do the first rush work for the visitors. Kenworthy will be at half and Tubby May in goal. This is a strong combination, a fact evidenced by the position it occupies at the top of the league per cent column.

CITY LEAGUE CONTEST.

The city league game this evening will be between the Grays and the Smiths. The latter team won from Lafayette, in that city Saturday evening, by the decisive score of 7 to 1. The players are in great form and promise some excitement in the city league. The city league game starts at 8 o'clock this evening.

The Richmond team plays its first game away from home Thursday evening, at Marion. Returns from this game will be received for the benefit of fans and skaters at the coliseum during the evening.

"Red" Williams, formerly a fleet rusher in city league circles will handle the whistle during this evening's program. Williams has been one of the few successful player-referees to officiate here.

HORSES ENTERED FOR THE FUTURITY

George Dougan of Reidston
Stock Farm Makes Four
Entries for 1911 Event.

STAKES AMOUNT TO $21,000

ANNUAL CATALOGUE OF BIG
CENTERVILLE HORSE BREED-ING ESTABLISHMENT HAS BEEN ISSUED TO THE PUBLIC.

The first annual catalogue of the Reidston Stock Farm has been issued. In its announcement it is made that four of the horses in the George Dougan stakes will be raced in the Kentucky futurity in 1911. The stakes will be $21,000. Gay Bond, Josephine Barton, Julia Dare and Bunna Vista are engaged for the futurity.

In his announcement, the proprietor, George Dougan, states he has on the farm four stallions, of which he thinks no better bred, or more promising individuals can be produced. Twenty brood mares are on the farm and the owner thinks "Old Kentucky" can not produce any better. The catalogue states everything on the place is for sale at any time the buyer comes and visitors are always welcome, even though they have no idea of buying any stock.

SEEING THE ALPS.

Tourists Who Do Their Mountain
Climbing by Telescope.

The tourist of today who visits the Alps and who lacks the physical endurance or whose time is too limited to make the ascent of some of the famous peaks nevertheless is able closely to survey the panorama of mountain scenery through the medium of powerful telescopes located at the terminals of the mountain railroads. By this means the rocks and glaciers and peculiar formations of these historic mountains may be carefully studied, though the spectator need not approach them within many miles.

Each of these mountain telescopes is mounted on a forked cradle and is so nicely balanced that its position may readily be fixed by the tightening of small thumb screws after the focus has been adjusted with a hand wheel. The magnifying power of the instruments varies from 35 to 116 diameters, but is adapted for landscape observation only.

When weather conditions are suitable, climbers on the Titlis may be seen through the telescope at Uttersberg, near Zurich, a distance of forty miles, and the hotel on the Faulhorn, sixty miles away, may be recognized. Every step of the toilers on the slopes of the Matterhorn can be followed by means of the instrument on the Riffelalp above Zermatt. Several lives have been saved by the means of these glasses, for signals of distress on the mountains are seen by the watchers at the telescopes.—Harper's.

Playful Humor the Past

The minimum temperature for the week was registered on Monday when the mercury fell to 11.

In respect to rainfall the report shows that .06 inches fell. Rainfall is reported on Friday and Saturday and a trace on Tuesday.

Monday was the only clear day during the week. The remainder were classed as three cloudy and three partly cloudy.

The maximum and minimum temperature for each day of the week is as follows:

ANOTHER DAYTON MURDER MYSTERY

Young Girl Assaulted and Killed by An Unknown Fiend
In a Lonely Place.

BODY WAS HID IN A BARN

CASE PROMISES TO BE AS FULLY SENSATIONAL AS THE GILMAN
AND MARKOWITZ MURDER MYSTERIES—NO ARREST.

Dayton, Ohio, January 25.—Rivaling in sensational features the Dona Gilman and Anna Markowitz cases is another murder mystery with which the local police are now grappling.

Mary Forschner, aged 15, scarcely more than a child, but buxom and pretty, lies cold in death in Berk & Fry's morgue, on Fifth street, and her sealed lips hold the secret of a criminal assault and murder. She was choked to death early Saturday night in a field extending along Knox street within a short distance of her home, at Vermont and Knox avenue. Her body was dragged to the barn on the Grafton-Kennedy estate, where it was found at 2 o'clock Sunday morning.

Police Chief Allaback and Chief Detective Hughes admit that they are at sea. Two suspects are under arrest, but the officials state that they are held principally as witnesses.

Bound for the Bank.

The girl left the home of her stepfather, Robert Geppert, in North Dayton, shortly after 6 o'clock Saturday evening, carrying a Dayton Savings and Trust Company's deposit book for the purpose of placing $9 in the bank, as partial payment on a lot which her stepfather had purchased some time ago. Her movements from that time until her body was found are a mystery to police and relatives. When she failed to return Mr. Geppert and the girl's mother, brothers and sister Maggie became alarmed and instituted a search.

Geppert secured a lantern and began searching the neighborhood about 10:30, but failed to notify the police. He enlisted the aid of several neighbors, including Arthur Hyre and John Merkle.

Not until after midnight was information sent to the police. Then Lieutenant Hately dispatched several officers to North Dayton to assist in the search, but before they arrived the stepfather made a horrifying discovery.

Discovering that the wet ground had been torn up as if by persons in a desperate struggle, he followed a trail which led to the shed in the rear of the Kennedy home, and by the aid of his lantern found the lifeless body of his stepchild. The girl was lying on her face as if she had been thrown carelessly down by her heartless assailant.

The coroner was on the scene by 5:30. His superficial examination showed that the victim had been choked into submission by the fiend, who, after accomplishing his purpose, dragged the girl through the mud to the barn.

JOHN F. CUNNEEN SLAPS AT SALOONS IN GOOD ADDRESS

Drinking towns are slaughter towns of the human race. The man who wants fun and excitement by the destruction of his fellow man, I place in the same category as those people of old who gathered in an amphitheater and had human beings torn limb from limb by wild animals for their amusement.

PRINCESS BONNIE WILL BE PLEASING

Amateur Production Has Exceptionally Large Cast and Will Be Great Success.

BRIMFUL OF CATCHY AIRS

SOME OF THE BEST LOCAL AMA-
TEUR TALENT IN THE CITY
WILL TAKE THE PRINCIPAL PARTS IN THE PLAY.

Princess Bonnie, the ever-popular two-act comic opera will be produced at the Gennett theatre Thursday and Friday evenings of this week by a large company of local amateurs. The play is to be given under the auspices of St. Paul's Episcopal church guild which has in the past produced several very successful amateur operas, notably "Bi Bi" and the "First Lieutenant."

"Princess Bonnie" has many catchy, musical numbers and the cast includes some of the best vocalists of the city. Principals and chorus have for the past two weeks been practicing hard and it is certain the play will run as smoothly as any professional production.

Miss Cates in Title Role.

The title role is taken by Miss Josephine Cates, a very clever actress and who possesses a remarkably sweet voice. The story that is woven about her adventures is of heart interest and the comedy is delightful. The principals in this production, with two exceptions, have participated in numerous local amateur productions and are thoroughly at home behind the footlights.

The comedy roles are taken by Walter Eggemeyer, who has a part that fits him exceptionally well, W. R. Poundstone, Miss Juliet Swayne, Howard Kamp and Myron Malsby. Other leading parts are taken by the Misses Marie Kaufman and Pearl Hasecoster and Roy Lacy and Raymond Swing.

The chorus is an exceptionally well trained and large one. Several fancy dances will be given. Advance sale of tickets opened today at the theater and the demand for seats was encouraging for the promoters.

PROMOTION FOR A RICHMOND MAN

Richard A. Jackson, Former Local Attorney, Advanced
By Rock Island.

HIS RISE IS PHENOMENAL

HE IS NOW SLATED FOR POSITION
AS VICE PRESIDENT AND GEN-ERAL COUNSEL OF THE GREAT SYSTEM.

Dispatches from Chicago today states it is understood R. A. Jackson, formerly of this city, will become vice president and general counsel of the Rock Island and Pacific system. At present Mr. Jackson is first vice-president and general solicitor of the Rock Island with headquarters at Chicago. The advance for Mr. Jackson is said to follow the resignation of Robert Mather as president of the Rock Island company of New Jersey and the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific company and the appointment of Benjamin Yoakum, as Mather's successor.

Career Brilliant One.

The rise of Mr. Jackson in the railroad circles since leaving Richmond has been almost phenomenal. He is recognized as one of the leaders among the younger element now promoting the interests of the large transportation companies. During his residence in this city he practiced law and was associated with John F. Robbins and H. C. Starr.

Sheriff Gouges Arm Handling
Barrel Booze Used in Jones Trial.

CARELESSNESS CHARGED

Sheriff Meredith is threatening to bring suit against the county. He does not know whether the county would be the right defendant, however and this fact is likely to prevent any action being taken. Whiel removing a barrel containing a portion of the stock of "wet goods" which was confiscated in the raid on Dr. Jones' store at Whitewater, the sheriff gouged his arm on a nail in the barrel. It was necessary for a physician to treat the injury to prevent blood poisoning. The cut is an ugly one. Friends told the sheriff that he should not collect damages as he had been partly responsible for the accident through careless handling of the barrel. The sheriff has had almost as much notoriety out of the case as Dr. Jones.

HER RHEUMATISM

MERELY RAGWEED

After Five Years a Piece of

Through Her Anatomy.

YOUNG GIRL'S EXPERIENCE

WHILE PLAYING BASKETBALL,
STUBBLE ENTERS HER HAND
AND LAST WEEK COMES OUT
THROUGH WRIST SORE.

Economy, Ind., Jan. 25.—After suffering with what she thought was rheumatism for five years, Miss Mabel Hunnicutt learned the affliction to her wrist was due to a piece of ragweed that had imbedded itself there that long ago. Five years ago, Miss Hunnicutt was playing basket ball in a field. She slipped and fell. Her hand struck the sharp point of a ragweed stubble. An incision was made in the palm of the hand, but it was not known that a piece of the weed had remained within the flesh. The wound healed and Miss Hunnicutt thought no more about it. For some time she has been suffering from a slightly crippled hand and rheumatism was believed to be the cause.

Sore Came on Wrist.

A sore appeared upon the back of the wrist and it became necessary to lance it. After the operation and the exudation had been removed a piece of ragweed half an inch long and an eighth of an inch thick was found. It was a piece of ragweed stubble.

During the time the sliver had been in Miss Hunnicutt's hand it had worked its way about three inches and passed entirely through the hand and wrist. After the operation the suffering was relieved and it is expected the removal of the substance will affect a permanent cure.

TAFT AND PARTY HAVE SAILED FOR THE CANAL ZONE

text of his second letter, received here today, follows:

"You have asked me to come to your meeting, but it will be impossible for me to come. My last letter to you, which has been published, has evidently given rise to some misconception, and I have written the following to Mr. Payne, chairman of the ways and means committee of the house, which I hope makes a little clearer what I meant in my letter to you:

"My Dear Mr. Payne: I have your letter. A tariff commission would be harmful or useless, as its functions were described in the bill. My own ideas have been that there ought to be a permanent commission of tariff experts to keep themselves advised by all the means possible of the cost of producing the articles named in the schedules, in foreign countries and in this country. I think what we lack is evidence, and some such means might very well be used for the purpose of securing it. I should be the last to advocate a commission with any power to fix rates—if that were constitutional, as it would not be—or with any functions other than that of furnishing the evidence to congress upon which from time to time it might act."

PAUL WANTS HIM.

Mr. William Dudley Foulke left this afternoon for Indianapolis where he will attend a banquet of alumni of Columbia college. Several prominent men, among them Mr. Foulke, who are graduates of Columbia, are to speak at the banquet. Mr. Foulke's subject is "Pragmatism in Politics."

"What is Pragmatism?" Mr. Foulke was asked.

"As nearly as I have been able to ascertain," he said, "from the works of Professor James of Harvard, it means a departure from hide-bound ideals. The whole thing seems to me errant nonsense and I shall for the most part content myself with making fun of what I understand of it."

Mr. Foulke is scheduled to speak in Chicago at a date not far off on the "Liberty of the Press." This will doubtless be apropos of the New York World and the Indianapolis News. He is also asked to address the Sons of Colonial Wars at St. Paul on some historical subject.
